On Farm Connectivity case study: Comprehensive on-farm security system

On-farm security equipment

Security had always been at the forefront of Mr Muller's mind, especially given the uptick in crime in the area. Despite always having a family member on-site, the safety of machinery, livestock, and fuel supplies remained a significant concern.

The Mullers used the On Farm Connectivity Program to purchase a video surveillance system specifically designed with the unique needs of rural properties in mind, and crucially, including the necessary connectivity to operate.

“Without the rebate, I would never have considered such a comprehensive solution to our security needs.”
